

Call for Papers. «Russica Romana» vol. xxx (2023)

2023 will be an important year for Italian Slavists: it will mark the centenary of the birth of leading Italian Slavic scholars such as Angelo Maria Ripellino, Riccardo Picchio, and Sante Graciotti. It will also be the 30th anniversary of the international journal of Russian studies Russica Romana, founded in Rome in 1994 by another leading Italian Slavist, Michele Colucci.

To mark the 30th anniversary of the journal, a special monographic issue will be published:

Women Writers, Readers, and Heroines in Russian Literature of the 19th-21th Centuries

The issue will feature unpublished original essays and materials on the varied presence of women in Russian literature, not only as authors, but also as fictional characters and readers.

Please submit your proposals by October 31, 2022 via email at russicaromana@gmail.com. With your submissions, please include the following information:

Title and abstract (approximately 1,000 characters)
Language of the paper (Italian, Russian, English, French)
Author's name
E-mail address
Affiliation

Authors will be notified of acceptance by December 20, 2022.

Complete texts of the articles (maximum length 28,000 characters, with a short abstract and keywords in English) must be received by April 15, 2023. They will then undergo a double blind peer review. The volume is expected to be published by the end of 2023.
